

1.

#GIRLPOWER

Stella McCartney's latest fragrance POP, EDP £42, celebrates women who are strong on their own and even stronger together. With vibrant tuberose, a sash of sandalwood, and a cute bottle to match, this one will take you from office to bar to BBQ and back.

boots.com

2.

BRIGHT EYES

If you're a fan of Philosophy's sell-out Miracle Worker moisturiser, you'll be glad to see their latest arrival, Ultimate Miracle Worker Eye SPF15, £39. It's a different formula (with UV protection and a cocktail of punchy ingredients) but the miracle still works.

johnlewis.com

BEAUTY CHARTS

This week, we've discovered the ultimate coffee-table hero and we're trying the hot new fashion fragrance

5.

LIP POPPIN'

Channelling the Roy Lichtenstein we wish we had on our walls, Maybelline's new Baby Lips Pop Art Lip Balm ensures lips are kept hydrated and glossy. Pick up Blueberry Boom, £2.99, to up your culture cred and your lip game.

boots.com

3.

WAX LYRICAL

Meeting at the artisanal crossroads of style and substance, Le Feu de L'Eau's Profond Rose Candle, £45, is handmade and sculpted under water. The creation of a super cool LA-based make-up artist and fine art designer, it smells fantastic too.

conranchop.co.uk

4.

BROW DOWN

The brow-volution shows no signs of abating as cosmetic giant Benefit are well aware (they research arch-related queries on Google). High Brow Glow, £17.50, from their new range, is a shimmering, highlighting standout.

benefitcosmetics.com/uk (available 24 June)

Words: Chanelle Ho. Photos: Marco Vittur

